It is also important nurse educators promote the long-held ethical standards for nursing practice. The research conducted in the phases of this study is based on the following conceptual definitions of moral integrity and moral courage. Moral integrity is knowing what is right and what is wrong and doing right at all times even at personal cost (Laabs, 2007). Moral courage is "acting ethically even in the presence of risk" (Murray, 2010, p. 15). This understanding contributes to the ...
